VARIOUS SUBJECTS TO BE DISCUSSED

AT ANNUAL CONVENTION OF COUNTY SCHOOL BOARDS

ATTENDANCE REQUIRED

Of President and Clerk Of Every School Board—About 300 To Come—To Be Aug. 28

Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, announced the following program this morning for the annual convention of the county school boards of Nodaway County, to be held in the Circuit Court room, August 28:

10 o'clock—Devotional exercise, Dr. C. C. James.

10:30 o'clock—Opening remarks, Leslie G. Somerville, County Superintendent.

11 o'clock—Boys' and girls' club plans for the coming year, R. A. Kinnaird, county farm agent.

11:30 o'clock—Sanitation of Schools Dr. C. P. Fryer.

1:15 o'clock—Changes in classification of rural schools, Roy Lippman.

Address, Dr. Fred Keller.

2:40 o'clock—Compulsory education law

(a) Duty of teacher, L. C. Cook.

(b) Duty of school board.

3:10 o'clock—Round table discussion.

About 300 representatives of the various school boards will be present at this meeting. The state law requires that the president and clerk of each school board shall be in attendance and compensation is fixed at $1.50 per day and 5 cents a mile is allowed for transportation.

The purpose of this meeting will be to give the members of the boards explanation of what work will be done for the coming school year and to have a general discussion of various problems confronting the districts of the county.

The annual plan meeting of all teachers of the county will be held on August 30 and 31. Attendance of all teachers at this meeting is required by state law. At this time, Mr. Somerville will tell his plans for the coming year. There will also be a program, which will be announced later.

It is a privilege to be a member of a school board, Mr. Somerville said this morning, because it offers an opportunity for service. Future citizenship depends upon the efficiency of the schools of today, he added.

Mr. Somerville gives the following reasons why a person should consider it an honor to be a member of a school board:

I am glad to be a school director.

Because it gives me an opportunity to help the boys and girls of my community.

Because I realize that what our children are tomorrow depends on what we do for them today.

Because it gives me an opportunity to visit the schools, see what is being done, talk with the teachers, advise with the patrons and cooperate with all agencies to make better schools.

Because I believe that what a teacher is and does, means as much to the children as what she teaches.

Because I believe that some schools are worse than no schools.

Because I believe that children, who are compelled to attend school, should have a good school to attend.

Because I believe that the community which refuses to pay the price of a good school will eventually pay the price in loss through ignorance.

Because I believe that peace and prosperity for a community, state or nation, depends on the proper education of all the people, regardless of where they live.

Because I believe that money spent on a good teacher is the best investment a community can make.

Because I think it is wrong for young untrained teachers to get their "experience" at the expense of the children and the community.

Because I believe that no teacher can succeed without a good building that is well equipped, a good boarding place, and the complete co-operation of all the people.

Miss Levisa Swinford left this morning for St. Joseph for a couple days visit. From there she goes to Hatfield, Mo., where she will teach this year. School starts there Monday, August 20.

Mrs. J. S. Shinabargar returned today from a few days visit with friends and relatives in Kansas City.

R. A. MASONS TO GO TO JOINT CONCLAVE

MEETING WILL CELEBRATE 126th ANNIVERSARY

EXPECT 1500 CANDIDATES

Local Chapter Expects to Take a Class of 40 or 50 to the Conclave

Officers of the Owens Chapter, No. 96, Royal Arch Masons here, announced this morning that plans would be started soon for participation by the local chapter in the joint convocation of Royal Arch Chapters to be held in Kansas City, October 30, to celebrate the 126th anniversary of the General Grand Chapter of the United States. The Maryville chapter expects to have a class of forty or fifty to receive the Past and Most Excellent Degrees to be conferred at that time. At the joint convocation held in St. Joseph this Spring the Maryville chapter had forty-three candidates in addition to a large number of members in attendance at the convocation.

On October 30, the Convention Hall in Kansas City is expected to house the largest assembly of Masons ever known for the conferring of degrees.

During the World War every one woke up to the realization of the extreme importance of the influence of Christianity. Churches of every denomination have been enjoying the benefit of the largest number of affiliations ever known for a like period of time. While the Masonic fraternity is not a religious organization, still its teachings are of a spiritual nature, and has also enjoyed a great growth.

On October 30, 1922, there was held in Convention Hall, Kansas City, the largest meeting for class initiation ever known to the Masonic fraternity. Eleven hundred then received the "Past and Most Excellent Degrees" of Royal Arch Masonry. St. Louis and St. Joseph followed with joint convocations. A grand total of twenty-one hundred candidates received the degrees in these three meetings. The Masonic world was astounded at these great results. Never before had such large classes been known. The influence of October 30, 1922, was felt all through Masonry. Missouri took the lead and still holds.

As a result of these meetings, many others followed in all parts of the United States.

Missouri so far surpassed other Masonic jurisdictions in 1922, it proposes to set a mark this year, again on October 30, by initiatiny a class of at least fifteen hundred in the "Most Excellent Degree" of Royal Arch Masonry, thereby making a record which will likely never be equalled. All Master Masons of Western Missouri are cooperating to attain that distinction for Missouri.

It is a most imposing spectacle to witness degree work in Convention Hall, Kansas City it affords the opportunity of large spectacular processions, with a big chorus of five hundred voices, a band of one hundred and twenty pieces, special scenery and robes are being provided to make this year's meeting one which no Royal Arch Mason should fail to attend.

The Ivanhoe Masonic Band of one hundred pieces will provide the instrumental music for this occasion. This is the largest fraternal band in the world, its concerts are now being broadcasted by the Kansas City Star every Monday night from 8:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

All railroads will allow reduced rates. The committee will omit no detail that tends to make this a bigger and better meeting than our last one.

Lawrence Ogden Has Good Alfalfa Bed

Field Was In Barley This Year, and He Put Disc Behind Binder When Crop Was Cut

Lawrence Ogden, one mile south of Maryville, is sowing about eight ocres of alfalfa today.

"Mr. Ogden has about the best prepared seed bed that I have seen this year," R. A. Kinnaird, county agent, said this morning. "The field was in barley and he put a four-horse team with a disc right behind the binder when the barley was being cut. As soon as the barley was taken off, Mr. Ogden plowed the ground and has worked it down to a good firm seed bed. He is going to innoculate the seed before he sows it."

PARLEY READY TO STOP COAL STRIKE

REPRESENTATIVES GATHERING IN NEW YORK TODAY

"CHECK-OFF" IS A SNAG

System Of PayMasters Paying Union Fees Causing Trouble—Government Taking Hand

New York, Aug. 15.—Representatives of the miners and operators of the anthracite coal fields were gathering here today for conversations with the United States Coal Commission, which is seeking to avoid the strike threatened for Sept. 1.

John I. Lewis, international union head, will represent the miners, Samuel D. Wiggoner, chairman of the operators, will represent his group. John Hays Hammond, chairman of th coal commission, will preside over the conference.

The position of the three factions showed that Lewis, "while accepting the government's invitation to confer the miners in no way had backed down from their demand that the operators grant full recognition to the union."

Warner: "The operators, now as always, are ready to arbitrate all differences."

Hammond: "On September 1 the coal bins in many thousand homes will be bare. It is the duty of the coal conference to present the facts, place the responsibility where it belongs and evolve a course of action so these homes will not be without fuel."

The conference is expected to last two or three days.

The main controversy is around the check-off system, the unions' method of collecting dues and penalties. This system is in operation in the soft coal field but has been turned down by the anthracite operators.

Under the check-off system the paymaster of each mine takes from the monthly wage of each worker the amount due the union. Such a system, the operators hold, is "against the public good," and "affords a club in the hands of the unions over the miner who does not desire to join the union."

All other differences appear to have been settled at the conference recently held at Atlantic City between the miners and operators.

The present working agreement expires at midnight, August 30.

Lewis has announced that unless a new contract, containing the check-off provisions are signed by that date the men will strike.

111 Heat Worries Tulsa More Than Martial Law

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 15—"Business as Usual," and "The heat," were the mottos of Tulsa residents today as they entered the second day of "occupation," by the national guards following the proclamation of martial law by Governor Walton yesterday.

The 111 degrees the thermometer registered yesterday seemed to bother the citizens more than the soldiers, who were hardly in evidence except when they took up their patrol of the streets at 11:30 o'clock last night. From that time until 6 o'clock this morning all business was suspended.

The question on the lips of all now is, "When do the soldiers get out." Adjutant B. H. Markham, who is in command has advised that no troops will be removed today and a new phase is expected to be injected in the military court investigation today by the arrival of Attorney-General Geo. F. Shorts from Oklahoma City, who will take charge of the inquiry alleged mob violence. No arrests have been made in this connection and no progress has been reported by the military chief.

Mayor W. O. Garrett has returned from a short business visit to Peoria, Ill.

Ruin and Desolation Near Salt Lake and Ogden Looms—Honeymooners Lost

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 15—Ruin and desolation along the national highway between Salt Lake City and Ogden, and between Ogden and Willard as a result of the cloudburst and flood waters which cost the lives of several persons and property damage at Farmington and Willard totaling one million dollars.

Most of the dead were tenting in the Farmington canyon when the cloudburst fell, breaking a 30-foot wall down the canyon and bringing with it tons of rock and carrying houses, barns, and livestock in its path.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Rice of Ogden, who were spending their honeymoon in the canyon, both lost their lives. Another party of campers are known to have been wiped out. Bodies of some of the dead were found strewn from the north end of the canyon to a half mile below.

At Willard the body of Mrs. Mary Ellen Ward, 60 years old, was found several hundred feet from the ruins of her home. Mrs. Earl Ward, 25, her daughter-in-law, was also missing.

De aVlera Captured by Free State Troops

Dublin, Aug. 15—Eamonn De Valera leader of the Irish Republicans and the most agressive political foe to the free state, was arrested in County Claire today while making a campaign speech. De Valera had not been speaking for more than two minutes when the cry went up, "Soldiers are coming!"

Free State troops rushed up and fired a volley of shots into the air over the platform. Then they closed and seized De Valera, who made no protest.

There were about 2,000 persons in the audience. Great excitement was prevalent when the soldiers were making the arrest. Women shrieked and fainted. The crowd at first showed some disposition to resist the soldiers but broke up shortly leaving De Valera in their hands.

U. S. CONCLUDES MEXICAN TREATY

SUCCESSFUL NEGOTIATIONS MEAN RECOGNITION OF OBREGON

PROTECTION IS ASSURED

Treaty Of Amity and Commerce Assures Protection Of Foreign Interests In Mexico

Washington, Aug. 15—A treaty of amity and commerce has been concluded between the United States and Mexico as the final step in the negotiations leading to the recognition of the Obregon government, it was learned today.

Official announcement of the recognition will be made by the state department as soon as the treaty is approved by Secretary of State Hughes, possibly before the end of the week.

The negotiations, which were carried on in Mexico City between Charles Beecher Warren and John Barton Payne, the American commissioners, and representatives of the Mexican government, were entirely successful, according to administration officials. The treaty has settled all outstanding differences.

The treaty was based chiefly on the acceptance by Mexico of the program laid down by Secretary of State Hughes providing for Mexico guarantee of protection for alien property rights against confiscation.

Twice before the United States agreed to sign a treaty of amity and commerce with Mexico but on both occasions the refusal of the Mexican government to accept the terms, prevented the consummation.

In January this year the state department momentarily expected to settle the Mexican problem but President Obregon stated that he was not in a position to guarantee protection of property rights for large oil and mineral holdings. The exact terms of the new treaty will not be known until announced by the state department but it is understood that Obregon finally accepted the terms originally laid down by Secretary Hughes.

102 DEAD, 91 BODIES RECOVERED IN MINE

GRUESOME IDENTIFICATION ON AT KEMMERER, WYO

BLACK DAMP GAS CAUSE

Large Number Are Foreigners—Two Men Die In Saving 22 Others

Kemmerer, Wyo., Aug. 15—One hundred and two dead is the toll today of the terrific explosion in the Frontier mine, No. 1 of the Kemmerer Coal Company, which entombed 137 men and shook the countryside yesterday morning shortly after the miners entered the workings for the day.

Ninety-one bodies had been recovered early this morning and eleven more are known to be dead in the mine.

Thirty-five men were rescued alive but one died as he was being taken out of the workings.

Black damp gas, the coal miner's menace, is blamed for the blast.

J. P. Queley, president of the company that operates the mine, has declined to issue an official statement.

The explosion occurred between slopes 15 and 17, about a mile from the entrance and with the exception of the thirty-five, who came out alive, the workers had no chance for their lives, the poisonous gas overcoming them immediately.

Twenty-two were rescued through the heroic actions of Joe Nadi and Tony Davich, who locked twenty-seven men within a slope barracade until the death tunnel was partly cleared of the black damp.

Twenty-two of these twenty-seven men were taken out alive. Nadi and Davich died in an effort to rescue the other imprisoned men.

A large number of the dead men are foreigners, Italians and Armenians and a few Japanese.

It was a gruesome sight that greeted early morning visitors of the Odd Fellows hall and the Fitzpatrick undertaking rooms today where the victims of the disaster were stretched out under white canvass while the officials of the mine were checking up identification. Forty-six were at Fitzpatricks, forty-three at Odd Fellows hall and two were removed to a nearby church.

The undertakers and their assistants worked quietly with the dead miners in the two morgues. Only a few of them were burned, the majority of them dying by suffocation.

As the bodies were slowly uncovered in the morgue a few showed signs of burns and three or four were blistered about the head and upper portions of the body. None were multilatted, making the work of identification comparatively easy.

The scene in the morgue was in stricking contrast to the outbreak following the explosion. Hundreds of women and children, bareheaded and scantly dressed, rushed to the mouth of the mine. A wild scene of disorder marked the first two or three hours. It required the use of physical force to prevent many women from entering the underground death passage.

THE COST OF EDUCATION

There is bitter complaint in many communities today over the size of the school tax. Many people are demanding that the cost of education be cut down. But before doing so, the taxpayers should consider what they are getting for their money.

Increase in school attendance has been a factor in school expenditure. Many children used to drop out at about the sixth grade, wholly lacking in a decent equipment of life, but now there is a strong tendency to keep on to or through the high schools. All this calls for more teachers, more buildings, more costs of all kinds. Our people will never close the doors of their schools to those who seek better equipment for life.

The total of public school expenditure in the United States in 1920 was around $1,045,000,000. The total number of children enrolled was about 21,000,000. Thus the cost was about $50 per child per year. Allowing 12 years for grammer and high school course, it costs $600 to give a boy or girl a fairly good education.

As the average high school graduate probably does twice as valuable work as the average child that quits at the sixth grade, it would seem as if that cost was made up in about one year of the average man's life.

Of course schools should run economically. Sometimes there is too much tendency to go in for costly new fads, and put up needlessly ornamental buildings. But when it comes to the money that competent school teachers and adequate buildings cost, the community is repaid ten times over.

A poorly educated population means that people will be misled by shallow thinkers, will choose unqualified candidates for office, and will not be able to think out the problems either of their work or of civic life. A well educated poulation means good government, efficient production, and rapid progress. Good schools pay.

The French and Belgian franc is also losing its value. Approximately five francs used to equal a dollar in value. Now the value of the franc is about five for a quarter.

Use a mashie. Do not try to get strength into approach shots. Let the length of the swing, rather than its power, give the ball its impetus. Instead of strength, a solid grip is essential. The ball must be addressed in such a manner that the player does not have to reach for it, thus causing tenseness in the body and destroying the effectiveness of the swing.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15—Simplicity will characterize fashionable costumes of well dressed women during the fall and winter.

That was the decree of St. Louis designers as revealed in the opening of the Fashion Pageant here.

Lines conforming closely to the contours of the body, harmonious colorings and a general note of conservatism mark the fall showings, say the experts.

For the benefit of the unfortunate male head of the household whose duty it is to provide these simple, body clinging and conservative garments, it is stated they will cost just as much—probably more than usual—because to create a fashionable simple garment requires a lot of a designer's valuable time.

PREFERS THE "YOUNGER SON"

Undergraduate's Somewhat Unconventional Viewpoint on the Parable of the Prodigal Son.

Speaking with an undergraduate at Harvard, who had reiterated the need of something positive in life as against the "negativeness of commandments, creeds and church history," I received this reply:

"I can't make very clear what I mean by 'positive,' but the story of the prodigal son helps me to see it, and it seems to me that the younger son had six virtues and one vice, and the older son six vices and one virtue.

"I suppose that sounds funny—too much like a sermon—but you see I've always admired the younger fellow. He was ambitious when he wanted to get started in life, he was energetic and adventurous, for he went to a far country; he wasted his money on harlots—that was his sin; he was humble when he tried to earn an honest living even though it led him to the pig sty; he repented; he had common sense, so that he took the logical course of remedying his conduct, and when he reached home he confessed his sin.

"Look at the older brother; he was jealous, grouchy, greedy, ungrateful, disrespectful to his father, and stupid. The only virtue he had was that he stayed at home with the old man.

"Somehow I imagine God liked the young fellow even from the beginning, for he had grit enough to strike out for himself, and vision enough to strike out far, while the older brother was a stay-at-home stick-in-the-mud. It's the positive, adventurous disposition of the prodigal son that I like."—A Student at Harvard in the Outlook.

GENIUS ALLIED TO INDUSTRY

Men Whom the World Calls Great Rose to Highest Place Largely by Their Own Efforts.

Every great orator in history was a failure in the beginning. Paderewski was expelled from one of the great conservatories of Europe and told he could never learn to play the piano. He was seriously recommended to study the piccolo as he then could always get a job in an orchestra. Verdi wrote for twelve years and produced eighteen operas before he brought forth "Rigoletto," his first score of intrinsic merit, perhaps, excepting "Ernani."

Henry Irving failed in his first appearance, and was urged by all his friends to go back to the desk and ledger. Shelley's first poem, "Queen Mab" was poor stuff, flimsy and incoherent. Edison worked from eighteen to twenty hours a day for seven months trying to teach a phonograph to pronounce the letter "s." We look upon Chopin as having his genius handed to him on a gold platter, yet his practice at the piano was for hours at a stretch, repeating a single bar over and over again for nearly a thousand times.

These men made themselves geniuses by their own supreme efforts, raised what might have been mere mediocrity, or perhaps talent, to supreme power.—William George Jordan, in The Forum.

American Flour Regains Hold.

American flour is regaining something of its prewar hold in the markets of Portuguese East Africa and, with direct steamer service now introduced, this tendency to return to the American product may be further accelerated. Before the war it was the general practice to mix the flour used for breadmaking, three-fifths American hard wheat flour and two-fifths Australian soft wheat flour, but with the transportation difficulties and governmental regulation of the war, American goods were practically eliminated from the imports, says Consul Cecil M. P. Cross, Lourence Marques.

Mutes Gather for Companionship.

Many early morning risers, arriving at the Brooklyn bridge have recently noted a gesticulating group of men who gather there every morning on their way home from their night jobs.

All the men were deaf and dumb. They are employed in buildings near the bridge. Owing to their affliction they are unable to talk to their fellow workers. They agreed to meet each morning at the bridge to talk over the affairs of the world and to re-establish the feeling that they were not completely cut off from the current of human relationship.—New York Sun.

Clever.

You could heat your house with the hot blast that escapes up the chimney. Additional heat units are lost in ashes. But there's a new way of burning coal, a way you may use later in your furnace.

The coal is pulverized like flour. A blower shoots the powder into the furnace, in a fine stream, which spreads out fan-shape and burns like gas. Several times as much heat this way—and no ashes at all. Ford has installed this new process in his River Rouge plant.

Butte.

Butte is an important city but this Montana mining center is still spoken of as a mining camp, and it is probably the largest in the world with a population of about 80,000 when mine operations are going strong. About 15,000 men are employed in the mines. The total value of the output of these mines since they began to produce copper, zinc, silver, gold and lead has been about $1,500,000,000.

AFTER a search that led through untold hardships, the Count of Monte Cristo found the secret cavern. Gold, gems and untold wealth were his.

But think of this! Every day, simply by spending a few minutes running through the advertising columns of this paper, you can find a wealth of things that Monte Cristo could never know. Things that make your life rich in comforts! Countless conveniences that iron out the mechanics of existence! Economies that bring within your easy reach, things that once were priceless!

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores everywhere.

A Problem for the Hog Raiser

If it takes 15 to 20 bushels of corn to make a hog weigh 200 lbs, at 7 months old, and if it only takes 10 lbs. of Mineral, costing 37½c, to keep mineral before him for 7 months, would it not be economizing to sell ½ bushel of his corn and keep our "Dollar Saver" Mineral Mixture before him at all times?

BECAUSE IT HELPS { to keep down worms. / to balance the ration. / to go to market quicker.

WOULD YOU NOT { have a healthier hog? / get better gains? / run less risk?

Not a "Cure All" but one of the greatest secrets of hog raising (just part of a balanced ration). The other part is: grass, tankage, oats, corn. Contains 10 minerals which a hog likes, and can be used as a stronger laxative by force feeding with other feeds.

Over 200 farmers are now using our Mineral Mixture and better than 95% of them have pronounced it good, and are calling for more.

When you sneet your hog, can you afford to deny him the Mineral part of his ration, when you can buy it at our prices?

Help us to keep our price within your reach by being your own salesman.

PRODUCE REVIEW

While the production of butterfat has been lighter recently on account of hot and dry weather, the heavy rains of the past few days will probably result in some increase. Demand, however, is very good and although the reserve stocks in storage are heavy, the market should remain at its present level until either much heavier production or severe shortage is indicated.

Deliveries of fresh eggs at country points are dropping off quite rapidly, making it necessary for the trade to turn to reserve stocks in storage, which are a trifle heavier than last year. Consumption is being maintained at high level and indications are that withdrawals from storgae will be very heavy from this time on.

Live spring chickens are moving in heavier volume each week and prices on consuming markets are working to a lower basis. General indications are that because the results from last year's crop were poor, prices will be on a reasonable basis for the rest of the year.

Movement of live old hens to market is about normal but as there will be heavier demand for Jewish holidays the next two or three weeks, prospects are that eastern markets will be maintained at present levels or possibly little higher.

Painting Walls and Ceilings of the H. S.

When the Maryville High School pupils return to their studies they will find the interior of the building has been redecorated during the summer months. Three workmen are busy painting the walls of the two upper floors and also oiling the floors.

The walls and ceilings in the rooms are painted different colors that will aid in the lighting effect in the rooms. The hall of the building is being painted a light yellowish-brown and the ceiling correspondingly.

The chemistry labratory is also being remodeled. A large hood is being constructed on the east side of the room that will lead off offending gases and new work tables will be made. The storage case is to be cut in two and moved from its present position.

All of the work will be finished in time for the beginning of school.

APPEALED TO THEIR HUMOR

Theatergoers Unable to Appreciate Shakespeare's Characters Arrayed in Modern Garb.

In Birmingham, England, the other day an experiment in dramatic art, intended to prove that Shakespeare's plays were greater than any representation of them, ended in a ludicrous fiasco. What the experiment proved was that, unless the characters are garbed according to the accepted traditions, the lines and situations created even by the master mind of the world's greatest dramatist have no power to impress a modern audience.

The play chosen for the purpose was "Cymbeline," staged in a country that never existed. Therefore, argued the promoters, they were free to garb the characters in any way they pleased, and so the characters appeared in the modern dress of the present day.

A company of scholarly actors had been assembled to play the parts and all other stage traditions carefully attended to. But Shakespeare in a tuxedo failed to get across. The audience saw only the funny side of the unexpected costumes and laughed at the most dramatic incidents and tittered at the actors' most poetic and inspirational utterances.

Which seems to confirm the attitude of the motion-picture producer—that dramatic art appeals more to the eye than to the intellect.—Los Angeles Times.

TO HAVE SUCCESS IN LIFE

Charles M. Schwab Names Qualities Which It Is Imperative One Must Possess.

"If I were asked to name the most important things that lead to a successful life," Charles M. Schwab is quoted in The Business Woman as saying, "I should say, first of all was integrity—unimpeachable integrity. No one can ever do anything of great value in life, and have the confidence and approval of his fellow men, or be successful in his undertakings with other business people, if he does not have the reputation of being a person of honor and integrity. This is the very foundation of a successful life.

"Another important thing is loyalty. Be loyal to the people with whom you associate at the start. Make your employer feel that you are sincere with him; that you are going to promote his interests; that you are going to stand for the things he represents and that will reap you a richer reward. Loyalty above all!

"Be friends with everybody. When you have friends, you know there is somebody who will stand by you. Lead a life that will make you kindly and friendly to everyone about you, and you will be surprised at what a happy life you will lead.

"These things secure opportunity. That secured, there comes the need of good judgment, which is one of the prime requisites for enduring success."

Why the Good Old Remington Pump Gun Still Outsells all Others

There's a new 20-gauge model, too—the best of the light-gauge guns. See it at your dealer's

ASK any of your friends who shoot a Remington 12-gauge Pump Gun—there are lots of them—what it is that has made this the favorite 12-gauge ever since Remington brought it out in 1900—the first solid-breech hammerless repeating shotgun ever produced.

Or better yet—if he'll let you—borrow his Model 10 and take it out in the fields or down by the water for an afternoon and try it for yourself.

* * *

Fire arms experts always comment on the precision and finish of the Model 10—the result of 245 separate inspections in the Remington plant.

And they remark that the receiver is machined out of solid steel—instead of made of stamped steel metal or a cored casting as is done with many shotguns.

But the man who goes out for a day's sport or to get a few ducks or rabbits for supper isn't so apt to say anything about these technical features.

He'll tell you that the Remington Model 10 shoots harder and straighter than any other 12-gauge he ever had in his hands, has an action that never balks or clogs—and seems to get better the longer he uses it.

If you're in line for something specially good in a 20-gauge—

Get your dealer to show you the new Remington Model 17. This is a hammerless, solid-breech pump action, too. Chambered for 2¾ inch shells which gives it the power and range of a 16-gauge. It is comparatively new—but already many old-timers swear by it as a "real man's gun."

The first time you get a chance go to the gun rack at the store and look at these Remingtons. Your dealer will be glad to tell you anything you want to know about them.
